Galapagos Island Zoologist Here To Look Over Garrapata Canyon As Location For Biological Preserve

By RAYLYN PENNEY

Civilization—viewed by the scientist as heavy-handed, short-sighted and unaware—might succeed in desecrating the last remaining scientifically valuable natural areas of this earth if it were not for the work of such men as Dr. Robert I. Bowman.

One of Dr. Bowman's special concerns is preservation of the Galapagos Islands, famous natural museum of living fossils and cradle of modern knowledge, where Charles Darwin crystallized the theory which rocked (still rocks) the academic world.

A visitor to the Big Sur-Carmel area over the weekend, the young assistant professor from the department of biology, San Francisco State College, spent two days beginning a survey which many hope will lead to preservation in the primative, undisturbed condition of one of our own scientifically valuable sites: a 387-acre tract in Garrapata Canyon, nine miles south of Carmel.

With the aid of The Nature Conservancy, a nation-wide organization which has already established many "nature preserves" throughout the country, the area may become a wilderness reservation operated for study and research purposes by the college, but with access granted to any other interested institutions or individuals.

Discussing Garrapata, Dr. Bowman said, "But we don't have to go all the way to South America to find an excellent natural area with Garrapata in our own backyard."

He pointed out that Garrapata is extremely valuable, not only for the magnificent stand of redwoods, but because of patches of dense coastal chaparral of the kind we are rapidly losing when it is bulldozed under in favor of a sea view. It also has a stream for acquatic studies and is geologically interesting, to say nothing of its esthetic value.

Dr. Bowman, a stocky, crewcut, bespectacled vertebrate zoologist, whose hiking boots and youthful, "outdoorsy" appearance make him look more like an undergraduate than a doctor of philosophy, has made the Galapagos trip twice, in 1952 to complete his doctoral study on Darwin finches, and in 1957 to find a site for a permanent biological station there.

Snyder, Campbell Win; Carmel Shorted On Polling Places

Incumbent Gordon Campbell and Dr. Richard Snyder carried all three precincts in the Carmel Unified School District election Tuesday to win the two vacancies on the board, 970 and 921. Marjory Lloyd, their closest contender, received 656 votes. John Melville received 496, Mrs. Alfonse Elsen, 380.

An unusually heavy vote turnout for a school board election, and Sunset School, the single voting place for "old Carmel district" which included Carmel Highlands, Pebble Beach and all the new development in Carmel Unincorporated, as well as the city, got the brunt of it.

Total vote for Sunset polls was 2727. The Valley, with two polling places, had a total vote of 692.

Only the long experience and efficiency of the election board at the Sunset polls prevented a jam while the polls were open. Short of tally sheets and other supplies, the board was counting votes until 2:00 o'clock the following morning.

Cast Announced For Senior Play, "Cocktail Party"

Cast is in nightly rehearsal this week for the Carmel high school senior class production of T. S. Eliot's Cocktail Party to be presented May 29-30 at Sunset School Auditorium.

Director Robert Wilson, English instructor, announces cast members. David Farr and Marjorie Haak in the leading roles, supported by Gail daRoza, Mike Blanton, Walt Helm, Gordon Douglas, Lynn Dufton, Carolyn Pye and Bill Kearney. Make-up by Hilary Teague, stage manager, Mike Marquard, sound effects, Tim Smith, lights, Frank Wallace and props, Jeff Smith.

Because of the play's controversial character the cast will appear before a high school student body assembly each giving a few lines of his or her role for discussion. "We feel that in selecting Eliot's play we challenge both the players and the audience," Mr. Wilson states. Tickets may be secured through students, at Carmel High School, or at the Browse Around Music Store. Seats will not be reserved.

Garrapata Agreement Announced

Monterey Peninsula Chapter Members of Nature Conservancy were told last night that an agreement had been reached between the owners of 387.2 acres in Carrapata Canyon and the representatives of Nature Conservancy, for the purchase of the property for a biological reserve under the administration of San Francisco State College.

Purchase price agreed upon is $75,000. San Francisco State will "bear the brunt" of the fund raising campaign, which will be centered in San Francisco.

The conditions include a time extension of six months on the option if $56,000 of the purchase price has been raised within the year allowed, William Drake, Director of the Western Regional Office of Nature Conservancy told the local members.

"We seldom face such generous terms," he added.

The project still must be approved by the national organization at its June 2 annual meeting, but in March the board of directors authorized the western office to enter into negotiations with the owners, the Carmel Development Company (the heirs of John Devendorf, one of the founders of Carmel.)

The property is up Garrapata Canyon, the mouth of which Highway No. 1 crosses nine miles south of Ocean Avenue. It has a stream, a stand of redwoods, and chaparral-covered hillsides. With its diversity of plants, many of them native only to this area, it is exceedingly valuable as a natural laboratory for future research. Its administration by San Francisco State does not bar students from other colleges. Any study which does not necessitate destruction of the plants will be permitted.

Laidlaw Williams, chairman of the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of Nature Conservancy, in his annual report last night, said:

"Last summer the attention of your board of trustees was brought to focus on a section of the Garrapata Canyon. The owners wished to sell but because of their interest in conservation wanted to have the area remain intact and had refused a number of offers to commercial interests. Your board considered the area ideal as a nature preserve which could also be used as a biological study area. Because we knew that San Francisco State College was interested in obtaining such an area for this purpose; we invited Dr. Robert I. Bowman of the Department of Biology of the college to visit the canyon and consider the possibilities. (Editor's note: See interview with Dr. Bowman, Page 1, this issue.) Several other members of the department, including its chairman, Dr. John Hensill, and Dr. Gerald Thomas who is Chairman of the Division of Natural Sciences, came also. Their enthusiasm for the project was shared by all. A number of meetings by your board followed. Dr. Bowman was commissioned by the president of the college to promote and investigate

Let Tourists And Motels Pay For New Auditorium Student Council Suggests

According to audience consensus—which included members of the regular adult city council—Carmel's city government was in good hands Tuesday night when students from the Carmel High School took over the offices which had just been vacated by the adult group, following a brief special meeting.

Elected to hold one-day city offices by fellows students at the high school—and performing their duties not only with apomb and finesse but also with genuine understanding and nice perception—were Mayor Mat Laky, Councilman and Street Commissioner Lucinda Lloyd, Councilman and Fire Commissioner Polly Gann, Councilman and Police Commissioner Frank Wallace, and Councilman and Health and Safety Commissioner Bill True. Student administrative heads, chosen at the high school at the same time, were Street Superintendent Marcia Hellam, Fire Chief Harrison Hilbert, and Police Chief John Durein. Holding the position of Building Inspector was Patty Thorndike, while Sherry Raney served as City Tax Collector. Sitting at Mayor Laky's right during the lively student council meeting, was City Clerk Janet Kellogg. At his left was City Attorney Carolyn Burde.

Just before the student council meeting began, the regular adult city council held a brief special meeting during which a new dog ordinance (#260-NS) was passed, a Forest Theatre use formula was approved, a request to the Division of Highways for plans for the proposed Carpenter Street Interchange was made, and a permit to authorize screening of an unsightly public building by an adjoining Junipero street motel owner (at that owner's expense) was authorized with the proviso that, before screening began, the building inspector's and the planning commission's approval would have to be secured.

The first resolution on the student city council's agenda was one to seek authorization for grading and paving of Torres Street between Ocean Avenue and Mountain View. It was introduced by Councilman Lucinda Lloyd, but it found the road to approval exceedingly thorny, and was finally defeated by a 3 to 2 vote.

The second resolution fared better in the student council although it did not achieve an entirely favorable vote. This had to do with the suggested establishment of a 'yield' sign to control traffic at the intersection of Junipero and Third streets. Councilman Bill True inquired whether there had been a record of accidents at the intersection and student Police Chief John Durein said there had been three since 1949. This resolution had been proposed by Councilman Frank Wallace, and it eventually won a 4 to 1 approval, with only Mayor Laky opposed.

By this time, things were, however, going more smoothly, and the third resolution, suggesting the placing of a 'yield' sign at Junipero and Sixth streets, achieved a unanimously favorable council vote. This had also been proposed by Councilman Wallace.

Next item — but inadvertently not on the prepared agenda, and thus requiring a suspension of the order of business— was introduced by Councilman Polly Gann, who sought to establish a regulation in the business district requiring the placing in business establishments of fire extinguishers in such a way

SAN CARLOS REALTY LEADS CARMEL LITTLE LEAGUE

Jack Miller's San Carlos Realty nine bumped Pilot Market from first place in the Carmel Little League by edging the grocers, 1 to 0, in the best game of the current season. Bobby Moffett pitched a nifty two-hitter to post his third win of the campaign but he had to bear down all the way as George Dubetts and Tim Mosolf, Pilot pitchers, were also stingy with the hits. John Aitken drove in the winning run for the realtors in the fourth inning when he singled to score pitcher Moffett from third. Tim Fry and Vincent DiBiase were the only Pilot batters to hit safely off the hard-throwing Moffett.

Turner & McEldowny, one of the most improved teams in the league, split a pair during the past week, beating Wilder & Jones, 9 to 4, and dropping a 6-3 decision to Pilot Market. Jerry Olson pitched a steady seven-hitter to turn back the plumbers as Ron Berry hit a perfect 2-for-2 to go with Dick Wise's triple and Doug Rodda's double. Jack Mahoney's 2-for-3 and Greg Jones with 2-for-4 led the plumber hitters.

Pilot Market kept a firm grip on second place by whipping Boys' Town, 6 to 2, and getting by Turner & McEldowney, 6 to 3. George Dubetts and Tim Mosolf collaborated to pitch the wins in both games. Tim Fry was the Pilot offensive leader in the win over Boys' Town, scoring 2 runs as he got on base 3 times. Tom Leutzinger and Maynard Peterson shared the pitching chores for Boys' Town, allowing 5 hits but giving up 9 free trips to first base. Pilot and Turner & McEldowney were all locked up at 3-3 going into the sixth inning when Tim Mosolf hit a home run with Mike Newman and Terry Mosolf on base to provide the clincher for the grocers. Mike Newman had 2 hits to lead the winners while Lawson Little, Jerry Olsen, Doug Rodda, and Mike Beard hit safely for Turner & McEldowney.

Mike Bray pitched Boys' Town to a 4-2 win over the hard-trying Sport Shop, allowing only one hit over the 6-inning route. Mike had good hitting support from Steve Trapkus, hard-hitting first-sacker, who hit a perfect 2-for-2 including a 2-run homer. Howdy King was the only Sport Shopper to hit safely off the swift slants of pitcher Bray.

Tonight's Little League action has Pilot going against Sport Shop with Friday night's bill matching Turner & McEldowney with San Carlos.

Saturday the Little League Farm Teams take over with Whitney's Restaurant and Rockets on at 10:00 o'clock a.m. Nikko's and Special Delivery at 12:00 noon, and the Little Sparrows testing the Village Inn at 2:00 o'clock p.m.

CARMEL HIGH HOSTS KING CITY NINES THIS FRIDAY

In the final home baseball games of the season, Carmel High plays host to the good King City teams this Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Padres are out of the running for the league flag but could be spoilers for the chances of the Mustangs to win the championship. At the present time King City is tied with Gonzales for the league lead and a loss to Carmel would just about eliminate the Mustangs from contention. However, King City edged the Padres in a 16-14 slugfest the first time around and figure to finish in front in this one. During an in-and-out season, Carmel has made a habit of knocking off the leaders and playing dead to the trailing teams. The Padres ousted Pacific Grove from first place in the first outing and tumbled the Gonzales Spartans the second time around. The junior-varsity teams will be playing at the same time as the varsities with the jayvees swinging away at Bardarson Field and the varsities on th lower diamond.

Carmel lost all mathematical chance for defending its baseball title this season as the Live Oak Acorns edged them, 4 to 3, last Friday afternoon at Morgan Hill. Jim Brown pitched nice five-hit ball in a losing effort and could of picked up the win if his mates had come through with a few clutch hits. The Padres outhit the Acorns 7-5 with Ron Faia getting two of the Carmel hits.

Carmel's jayvee squad hammered Live Oak, 10 to 3, as Forrest Cornwall tossed a two-hitter and leadoff batter Baxter Garcia harried the Little Acorns by getting on base four times and scoring three runs.

The Padre varsity took a hitting lesson from the rugged Monterey High varsity Tuesday afternoon as the Toreadore sluggers hit four home runs and clobbered the Padres, 27 to 1. The cozy Carmel diamond was just right for the big bats of the A-division leaders as they teed off on the offerings of pitchers Jim Brown, Cim Conway, and Chris Wilkin. Dale Dawson and Dave Hansen were the only Padres to solve the slants of Monterey pitchers Dick Yoshida and Larry James.

TWO PADRE TRACK STARS QUALIFY FOR NCS MEET

Carmel High will have a two-man track team at the North Coast Section Meet at Berkeley this Saturday, with Phil White and Frank Wallace representing the Red & Gray in the big Northern California meet. The two Padres won their way to the meet by placing in the North Coast Divisional Meet at King City last Saturday. White earned a first-place tie in the pole-vault while Wallace picked up a third in the half-mile. White has been one of the top vaulters in Northern California this season and is given a good chance to top the field at Berkeley. In practice, the husky senior has been flirting with 13 feet and this should be good enough to carry him to the State Meet at Bakersfield. Wallace has been shifting around between the mile and half-mile this season and is just reaching his peak in his favorite event. There is a host of excellent half-milers in Northern California this season and the slender Padre will have to fly to get in the money. If the Carmel lads place in the Berkeley meet they will qualify for the State Meet which is scheduled for the Bakersfield track on May 29th. Other track action for the Padre thinclads will be the Hollister Relays on May 29th and the Modesto Relays on May 30th.

PEBBLE BEACH TENNIS TOURNEY SATURDAY, SUNDAY

Seeded number one in the Pebble Beach Invitational Tennis Tournament scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, is Clif Mayne new California State Champion. Others entered in the event are Hugh Ditzler, Bill Crosby, Jim Farrin, Dr. Conway Catton, and Brooks Rawlins.

Matches will start at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and finals will be held at the Pebble Beach Tennis Club Sunday afternoon, according to John C. Gardiner, tennis pro at the Club. There will be an eight-man draw for the event.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The resignation of Gregory Millar as Conductor of The Monterey County Symphony Orchestra is a great loss to the community. It became somewhat known last week without the formal announcement which would better have been made from the stage of Sunset Auditorium at the last concert, since, though the fanfare for him by the orchestra was in keeping, the audience would have risen to their feet in honor and appreciation had they definitely known enough. There were tears in the eyes of some of us, for in the five seasons Millar has devoted his talents to the local orchestra, music on the Peninsula has grown both in interest and appreciation to which his efforts have contributed a full measure. Nothing can do this better than the demands of a real musician of ideals and experience which Gregory Millar accumulated playing violin in the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra, conducting concert and opera in St. Louis, singing leading roles in the New York and San Francisco Little Symphony. Besides conducting the Monterey County Symphony, he conducted the San Leandro Symphony, and recently received requests as guest conductor in America and Europe. Score-reading is exacting and Millar has been ordered to rest his eyes for a year from all conducting. With his wife, Roslyn Franz, and their three children, they will depart from the house in Pebble Beach to live in New York.

Never since hearing Casals have I listened to such virtuoso and interpretive cello-playing as Joseph Schuster gave us, as the final Concert of the Monterey County Symphony last week. Tone of deepest hue came from his instrument, produced with a finger and bowing dexterity of amazing speed and flexibility. With flowing lines, the happy Haydn melodies, in the middle movement, carried insistently lovely repetitions repeated in the orchestra. Schuster's cadenzas were brilliant avalanches of tonal bravura, and in response to insistent recall he gave an impressive movement from the Bach Suite for unaccompanied cello. Millar, Schuster and the players all received a demonstrative acclaim from the representative audience, many of whom had heard Schuster in a recital for the Carmel Music Society two seasons ago. It was the most satisfying concert ever given by the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra.

The San Jose College Choraliers were presented Saturday at Student Union as finale of this season's Monterey College series. The good-looking group of seven women and six men conducted by William Erlendson sat around a table as madrigal singers did in the 16th and 17th centuries, and sang unaccompanied compositions of 11 composers of that era, with good tone and modulations. Following intermission Six Chansons by Hindemith and the Brahms Liebeslieder Waltzes received excellent presentation, accompanied by four hands at the piano. The general characteristics of the group were joyous participation in the old conversational song form, and easy co-ordination with the quiet but positive conducting of Erlendson.

A recital was given in the Chancel of All Saints' Church at 5:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon by Christopher Schmidt and Robert Phillips, two young men who have made a special study of Italian composers of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. In presenting sonatas, pastorale, tocatta and verso by Corelli, Gabrielli, Zipoli and Scarlatte they alternated at the organ with either violin, viola da gamba or organ alone. It was an interesting exposition of the simplicity, though sometimes monotonous form, of the old masters. The performers played with devotion, facility and understanding. They will give a second concert at the same hour this Sunday.

abilities as equatorial penguins, flightless cormorants with vestigial wings used for swimming only, and a cool, foggy climate at sea level in the tropics, has been losing its wonders to the hungry and the curious for generations, according to Dr. Bowman.

Unfortunately for science, the giant land tortoises for which the islands are named are the only source of oil in the volcanic desert land and their livers are a good meal besides. The tortoise population has been thinned to a dangerous margin and other fauna have suffered similarly.

His trip sponsored jointly by UNESCO, the New York Zoological Society, the American Committee for International Bird Protection, the Conservation Foundation and Time, Inc,. Dr. Bowman combed the islands for a site suitable for the research and regulation station which would not only halt the slaughter of wildlife, but provide housing and facilities for scientists studying there.

"We found our site," Dr. Bowman says, "on the south side of Indefatigable (Santa Cruz) Island, on a coral beach, near a lava cliff sprouting gigantic cactus, flamingos breeding in the back lagoon, marine iguanas sprawled over the beach—it was a naturalist's paradise. And we spoke to the Ecuadorian government for it just in time. It sounds incredible, but an American hotel firm had already selected the same spot as a building site."

Historically, the islands, which lie on the Equator off the coast of Ecuador, have been used for a variety of projects, most of them temporary.

From the time of their discovery (in 1535 by Tomas de Berlanga, bishop of Panama) through Darwin's significant advent in The Beagle in 1835, they were a landfall for sailing ships.

Lack of water made them virtually uninhabitable in days of undeveloped transportation and communication, but penal colonies were located there, and in World War II the Army-Navy base on Baltra Island guarded the western approach to the Panama Canal.

On Dr. Bowman's earlier trip his ecological study of the finches apparently somewhat paralleled Darwin's own. He was accompanied on that trip by Mrs. Bowman, an artist, who made sketches. On the second trip a documentary film was made which is being used to interest people here in saving the Galapagos.

That Darwin's observance of the finches had a telling effect of knowledge is unarguable. Dr. Bowman explains that the Galapagos finches are a perfect example of "adaptive radiation," a central principle of the evolutionary story. The 13 species of Darwin finches are similar in plumage, song and nest construction, but differ radically in sizes and shapes of bill, and feeding habits.

Some bills are conical for seed feeding, some needle-like for insects, some shaped to peck at bark. They evolved in different directions to take advantage of different available foods. This is essentially the message of the Darwin finches.

One specimin of plant life brought back by Dr. Bowman has already dramatically demonstrated the need to preserve such areas as Galapagos as reservations, if not for the gathering of knowledge for its own sake, then for practical reasons.

A botanist is now being subsidized by a large food packing company in his study of the genetics of Galapagos tomatoes, Dr. Bowman said, because he has discovered the species are the only tomatoes in the world which, when you take hold of the fruit, it breaks off at the fruit, instead of dragging up the whole plant. Breeding this little genetic characteristic into domestic tomatoes will enable processors to use mechanical harvesters.

"You never know," predicts Dr. Bob Bowman, "when some purely academic work is going to lead to something utterly practical."

Garrapata Canyon Agreement Announced

the research possibilities of the projected preserve. Recently an agreement was signed by the owners, as represented by Dr. Edward Hehfeld, and Dr. Curtis L. Newcombe, chairman of the Western Advisory Board of Nature Conservancy."

Following Mr. Williams' report, the group elected unanimously the slate of officers and directors presented by chairman of the nominating committee, Philip Kearney. They are: Laidlaw Williams, chairman; C. Edward Graves, vice-chairman; John Stanton, treasurer, Mrs. James Moody, secretary. Trustees: Mrs. Frank Reinelt, Dr. Jean Linsdale, Francis Whitaker, and Vern Yaden.

Following the business meeting, Dr. Herbert L. Mason, of the University of California Botany Department, spoke of the vital need of preserving the diversity of the plant life in California. Seventy percent of California plants occur nowhere else in the world. There is a small patch of Brodia at Point Lobos that is found no where else. On a small lot in a real estate development in Sonoma County there is a little sunflower that blooms three weeks a year, and is found no where else in the state, or in the world. There is a pigmy cypress that grows a foot high in a spot of acid soil, on the northern California coast, the most acid soil known in the world; a unique lily and manzanita grow with it. On another limited area of a special type of soil, another unique cypress grows in southern California. All these species are found in peculiar soils, and are found nowhere else in the world.

"One wonders at the staggering job of preserving it."

Why preserve it?

"The most important reason for preserving anything is that we know nothing about it," said the veteran teacher and scientist. "Some imaginative youngster may get interested in it and discover something important about it."

He gave examples of recent discoveries in botany, including a top priority federal government project concerning a plant that contains a chemical that will harden mineral oil. "They want it for their airplane engines."

Saving plant species in their native environment is not "starry-eyed idealism," he concluded. "In the conservation of the unknown, lies the hope of our future."

It is not enough just to talk about it, he pointed out. One must get out and do something about it. The Save the Redwood League is an example of one organization that got out and did something "about it," he added; Nature Conservancy is another.

Editor of The Pine Cone:

I have not visited Carmel for about a year, as always though, I'm happy to enjoy the scenic beauty, the refreshing tang of sea air and pine ozone.

This time added pleasure awaited me. With one granddaughter, Carla Budd about to graduate from your remarkably situated High School—with the inspiring views of mountains and far famed Valley, and the enterprise and enthusiasm of hundreds of lower class members; I was invited to see the finished decorations for the Senior Prom for Saturday evening, May 16.

What a dream it was. Their theme "Gone with the Wind" pictured beautifully Southern life in a typical garden with its flowing fountains, its flower decked hedges all around, the borders, its magnolias and trees festooned with hanging moss. Then there were inviting colorful metal chairs and settees. You may indeed be proud you have young folks that appreciate their privileges and who can and do carry out such difficult assignments in such truly artistic and finished manner.

From,
Mrs. W. F. Henning.

Many Plans Complete For Carmel Schools' Closing Events

Picnics, concerts, proms and beach parties. Hours of hard hard study for finals, even harder study of college prospectuses for the high school seniors, sharpened pencils, sharpened minds for the last written tests, and then the great day of graduation. The month of June is youth's month when all the parents and uncles and aunts can do is smile with pride and go along, not forgetting the new suits the frilly dresses and the lovely cards that say congratulations.

Carmel district schools' programs include fun as well as pomp and circumstance.

Senior week at Carmel High is scheduled June 1 to 5. On Monday: Seniors may take over the teaching duties of any class they choose. Tuesday: Juniors will serve luncheon to the Seniors. Wednesday: Newly elected student body officers will be installed. The Senior Day Picnic will get underway at noon. Thursday: Dress Up Day, with the Seniors taking over the afternoon assembly program. Friday evening the Farewell Dance will be held. Baccalaureate services will be held on Sunday, June 7, and graduation will be on Saturday evening June 20. Senior committee chairmen are: Hilary Teague, Senior Assembly; Jo Ann Johnston, Gifts; Frank Wallace, Picnic.

Graduation Speaker Committee: Janet Fehring, Phyllis Fraser, Tom Stanford, Sue Mitchell, Sam Farr and Gordon Douglas. Music Committee: Kathleen Fry, Polly Popoff, Van Treat and Walter Helm. Class Valedictorian, Rieko Takata.

Graduation at Sunset School will be held in the auditorium on Friday evening, June 19, at 8:00 o'clock, with 84 boys and girls listed to receive diplomas.

Seventh graders held their spring dance last Friday evening with Mrs. John Campbell, Mrs. Rod Wilson, Mrs. J. E. Garretson of Carmel Valley, Mrs. Sarah Sproull, Mrs. Beatrice Weigman and Richard Meadows acting as sponsors. Peter Tuttle was in charge of refreshments. High point of the entertainment program was the dancing of Paget Decker and Martha Campbell.

The Junior High Girls Track Meet Open Competition was held Saturday afternoon on the Carmel High School grounds. Competing were 45 girls from Fremont School, 25 from the Walter Colton School, 25 girls from Pacific Grove grade schools, 12 from Tularcitos and 16 Sunset girls who, because they were hostesses, acted as recorders and officials.

Competitors were classified according to age, weight and height. The events included the 25 yard dash; 50 yard dash; 200 yard relay; standing broad jump; standing hop, step and jump; soft ball distance throw. There were three groups in every event. Winners were Diana Flynn, A—second distance. Holley McCullock, B—second distance; Kathy Streeton, first—hop, step, jump. In the relays Vicki Kennedy came in second. The program was planned by Mrs. Beatrice Weigman and Mr. William Wakefield.

Kindergarteners of River School will go picnicking on June 17 to celebrate the summer holidays ahead. There will be 98 boys and girls graduating into first grade.

Woods School had a record attendance for the May Day Festival. Parents and their friends crowded every available spot within the school grounds, overflowing onto the surrounding high ground. The kindergarten classes did their traditional Hokey Pokey, fifth grade girls danced around the Maypole. Two new features that won applause were the Bunny Hop and the Sword Dance, the latter performed by the fifth grade boys. There are no graduation formalities planned at Woods School.

Tularcitos School graduation will be held in the general purpose room at 8:00 o'clock on the evening of June 18, with 33 students receiving their diplomas from Dr. Grant Fletcher, a member of the Board. The Kiwanis Club will present gifts to the two outstanding scholars. Dancing will follow the ceremony, with a late party at the home of Mrs. Paul Porter whose daughter Nancy will be a graduate.

On May 22 the graduating class will be taken by Mr. James Mackey, 8th grade instructor in mathematics and science, and Mrs. Mackey to San Francisco by Greyhound. The group will visit the Zoo, the Science buildings and the Planetarium in Golden Gate Park and the afternoon will be climaxed by a scavenger hunt planned by Mr. Mackey. The two winners, boy and girl, will be taken to dinner on the Wharf by the Mackeys.

FRESNO CHORAL GROUP GIVES FIRST CONCERT

The Concert Chorale, a newly organized Fresno community musical group of 75 mixed voices will present its first concert at the White Theater in Fresno on Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock. It is a benefit for the Infant of Prague Adoption Agency.

The Chorale will be accompanied by 50 piece orchestra from Fresno, and there will be soloists for the larger compositions of sacred music on the program, which includes: Franz Schubert's Mass in G; Thomas Luis de Victoria, Motet, Jesu Deucis Memoria; Mozart's Motet, Ave Verum Corpus; A brass quintet; and Verdi's Te Deum.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian

We have two new cookbooks this week which are beautiful and full of good recipes with tantalizing pictures, but both books are so large they are impractical for a kitchen, so when you borrow them remember not to take them to the kitchen and get them all gooed up with ingredients. Read them and then bring them back to us. One is published by Life Magazine and is called the Picture Cook Book. This one is really big show and concludes with a chapter on famous restaurants of the world among which are listed several California spots. The second one is published by House and Garden and is a slightly smaller thing albeit still outsize. This one is not quite so ornate and may be a bit more on the practical side. Either one is full of taste-tempting recipes and pictures. A chance to flex your culinary muscles!

Another new book this week is entitled Four Hundred Jobs for People Over Sixty. At the time we bought it, we thought it was no doubt a good thing and would be most helpful in a community such as this, but now don't know. Like any other person we began by looking up our own profession, and if there are as many inaccuracies in the others as there are in librarianship, the book is a total loss. It says that work in a library is easy, mostly sitting down, and all you need is a love of books. Actually library work is hard, you need a good back, low heeled shoes, and a love for your fellow man as much as anything we can think of right now. It says library work is clean, but it isn't either. Library books are generally rather dirty and some of them are downright filthy, and the librarian's cleaning bills are normally high. What the article doesn't mention is the thing that keeps us everlastingly at it, and that is the fact that library work has a facination that keeps you going once you are started in it and nothing else could ever take its place, not nothin' nohow.

Something new has been added, a biography about a show business character, with no pictures, no illustrations of any kind. It's The Danny Kaye Story by Kurt Singer, and the only pictures of the one-and-only Danny are on the book jacket. This librarian felt cheated a little, but that's life. We feel cheated now and then.

Dr. Richard Gordon gave up the practice of medicine for writing, and his older book, Doctor in the House, was a small riot. Now he has a new book entitled, Doctor and Son. Read it on a lonely evening and have a laughing party all by yourself. Naturally, it's fiction.

Fiction also is Frank Slaughter's The Crown and the Cross, the Life of Christ. Some people object to books which make Biblical characters speak imaginary lines and they refuse to read them for that reason. To others, such things make the Bible come alive and seem more real. You know how you feel about this and will govern yourself accordingly.

Remember that we have films and a projector to loan. Likewise, a lot of new books. And the good old ones.

Outrigger, Serving Polynesian Food, Opens Tomorrow

The Outrigger, a restaurant specializing in Hawaiian and Polynesian food, will open tomorrow at 700 Cannery Row, in the former Monterey Canning Company Building.

Robert G. Wind and the Elves Family, owners of the new establishment, have engaged Cary Sinclair of the Hawaiian Room of the Lexington Hotel, New York, for manager. Richard Aimesbury, maitre d'hotel, also comes from New York, and the Forum of the Twelve Caesars. Chef will be Paul Zeibig, who has been chef for 15 years on the Matson Line's Monterey and Lurline, and for the past six years operator of the Danville Hotel.

A 15-foot waterfall in the entrance lobby will contribute to the exotic atmosphere of the restaurant; an ample private parking area, to the convenience of the patrons.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The spiritual identity of the man of God's creating will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul and Body."

Initial selections to be read from the Bible include these verses from Psalms (90:1, 2): "Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following will be read (280:25-30): "Rightly understood, instead of possessing a sentient material form, man has a sensationless body; and God, the Soul of man and of all existence, being perpetual in His own individuality, harmony, and immortality, imparts and perpetuates these qualities in man,—through Mind, not matter."

man with a title *(R.A.A.)

Why don't we just call this man a salesman...a "securities salesman?" Why the title Registered Account Advisor?* With pardonable pride, we think there's something special about a man who earns this title...something that's important to any investor. Like you, for instance.

Earning the title calls for hard work and a dedicated interest in a career of professional service. Only one in five applicants is accepted at Dean Witter & Co. for preliminary testing. Less than half of these qualify for our intensive six months, full time training program which follows.

From cashiering to commodities, bonds to brokerage, a man pursuing an R. A. A. must observe and absorb, department by department, the operations of a modern investment firm. Partners take a personal interest in this training for they and other key personnel are part of the "faculty." Final exams complete the program of study courses, lectures, industry tours and home work. But study continues throughout the career of an R. A. A. Frequent staff meetings, our twice daily market letter and regular research reports keep these men informed of investment opportunities for you.

Each title represents an investment on our part of approximately $7,000. It's a rewarding investment for us—and one that can pay dividends for you.

ROAD TO LOS BANOS

Between the bird-starred meadows
the road winds—
curved over hummocks,
curved around corners,
past pools
quickened with black and white coots—with circles of silver;
past willows
moving the shape of wind, etching thin shadows deep in the deep, new grasses.

And like surprise, spring lambs,
white with velvet dark faces, stare at our car as it passes—
turn to their black and white mothers, run on woolly legs
through the sheen of sun glistened grasses;

While blazing from sky
yellow beaked magpies, shining with blue-black light,
gleaming with white,
fall with a sweep of wide wings,
with long stretched tails—
fall to the sweet wild grasses.

And so we pass
up slope and down—
past square fenced fields, sun-gold beautiful
over the grazing herds up to their knees in green—over the wind-shined horses, over the stacked hay,
over the perfumed grasses . . .

Sun, sheer as gauze,
over this spring bright way—
over us
bemused with this shining day;

Over the deep, new, sweet wild grasses . . .

CHINESE PRINT

When length of Summer days has gone,
And Autumn-time is closing in,
The soul shall know no dread of gloom
For yonder by the garden wall
A gnarled old Persimmon tree,
Leaves cast as Fall again ordains,
Has hung upon bare branches there
Its Chinese lanterns of red-gold.
Such light to pierce a somber day
That lonely wanderer a-chill,
May catch a glimpse of paths that lead
Where feet have never trod before,
And eyes shall see in darkened hours,
A brightness from some inner light,
That shines from a remembered tree
Kept trimmed and burning to appear
A vigil lamp 'gainst backdrop fear.

Churchmen Ask For Used Clothing For People In Need

Church World Service, the nation-wide men's inter denominational organization that distributes clothing to people in need, is asking for donations of used clothing in good condition to send overseas, Mrs. Arthur Marshall of Pacific Grove told the United Church Women at their meeting recently at the Church of the Wayfarer. Supplies of clothing are exhausted but requests for such help keep coming in. Garments for adults are especially wanted but children's clothing also will be gladly accepted.

Headquarters of C.W.S. for northern California and Nevada are at Modesto, where contributions are crated and dispatched promptly to representatives in other countries for distribution where the need is greatest. A truck from Modesto will come to the Peninsula on June 8 to pick up donations in this area. All bundles should be left at the First Methodist Church on Lighthouse Avenue in Pacific Grove by that date. It is hoped that churches and other organizations as well as individuals will be able to furnish a generous supply of wearing apparel.

Money is also needed to pay for transportation to the shipping point, only eight cents per pound, as other expenses are met from individual gifts. Church World Service has members in the ports to which clothing is sent, who distribute it to the needy. Any donations of money for shipping costs will be gratefully received as the organization has no income except from gifts.

Among other matters considered by the church women was what they can do for military service persons in the area. Miss Margaret Westfall, who has been representing the Disciples of Christ in work among service families for almost five years in different areas of the country told of her work with the families whose men had been sent overseas, and with the young brides who feel lonely and lost in a strange environment, as well as the more serious cases where shortage of funds makes life difficult for the families. She pointed out that the U.S.O. offers a real opportunity for church women to serve soldiers who are away from their families.

Attendances at the United Church Women's May Day luncheon was unusually large, with members coming from all over the Monterey peninsula. Mrs. Jack Warren of Seaside, president, conducted the sessions both morning and afternoon, and Mrs. John R. Christie of the Wayfarer Woman's Auxiliary, with a committee from that body, prepared and served the luncheon.

TV Golf Party

Howard Bruggeman, manager of Monterey Peninsula Television Cable Service, entertained the male members of his staff on Friday afternoon at the Pacific Grove Golf Course. Let Tourists And Motels Pay Say Student Councilmen that none would be no more than 50 feet from any potentially firemenaced point. This resolution won complete approval.

The next three resolutions produced considerable discussion both among the council members and from the audience. The first suggested establishment on the beach of a phone, or phones, to be used to contact the police and fire departments in case of emergency. Because student City Attorney Carolyn Burde pointed out that the city might create an added legal liability if such a phone or phones suddenly were to be 'out of order', the council turned down this resolution by a 3 to 2 vote. Councilman Polly Gann then moved that the matter be referred to the city's insurance carriers, and this passed without dissent.

The next was both literally and figuratively, an inflammable resolution. It suggested that the Sunset Auditorium be considered for condemnation because it was thought to present a possible fire hazard. Student Building Inspector Patty Thorndike, however, pointed out that the auditorium met minimum building code standards, though student Fire Chief Harrison Hilbert had told how he thought a fire might start there and then spread out of control. He did add, however, that a sprinkler system might be helpful. Eventually the resolution seeking condemnation failed on a 4 to 1 vote.

The third seriously moot resolution was introduced by Councilman Lucinda Lloyd who is a devotee of horseback riding, and who felt that the whole length of the city beach such be useable yearround by horseback riders. Now horseback riders, between April 1 and October 1, are restricted to use of the north end of the beach only. The resolution had made a reference to the wishes of "aborigines" and, speaking from the audience, regular Building Inspector Floyd Adams, identifying himself as one of the "aborigines", said he wanted to see no horses or riders on the south end of the beach which he—and many others—use in the summer. The student council, however, decided to seek opening of the whole length of the city beach to horseback riders, by a 4 to 1 vote.

Finally the student council sailed blithely into further stormy seas. Mayor Mat Laky said that, after being in office but one day, the student council was ready to submit a complete and up-to-date municipal code—something, he pointed out, the regular city council had not succeeded in doing after five years of effort. Councilman True ventured the thought that "shouldn't we be familiar with it first" before approving it. Eventually, however, the entire council voted approval, after having been assured by Mayor Laky that all was in good order.

At this point the council hit something of a mild storm in proposing the formation of an auditorium district. The thought first was to seek revenue to pay for such a venture by taxing motels—"because we have so many of them"—and to tax more stringently "overtime parkers" since many of them were thought to be tourists. There was considerable pro-and-con discussion on the many points this proposal would present—more culture or less culture, more tourists or fewer, good-and-bad effects on the total community. Eventually the council decided simply to suggest that a committee be formed to study and to explore further whether or not the auditorium idea should be carried further.

CARMEL MERCHANTS LOSE 2 IN PENINSULA TOURNEY

After getting off to a good start with a convincing win over the Point Sur Naval Facility, Paul Artellan's Carmel Merchant softball team ran into tough going against undefeated Texaco and the dangerous Rasmussen & Moody aggregation. Texaco clipped the Merchants, 4 to 1, as Phil Ramirez bested Howard Simms in a hurling duel and the sporting goods nine ousted the locals from the tournament with an 8-2 victory. The sports parlayed Big Jim Morton's excellent pitching with Stan Sutton's plate power to keep their chances alive in the pre-season tournament.
